tendent J. C. Dixon urges all high school students to register Friday or not later than Monday. He states that indications point to such a large enrollment that it will probably be necessary to divide some of the classes into two divisions. This will require securing an extra teacher. The attendance last year entitles the school to an extra teacher and the enrollment this year promises to greatly exceed that of last year. It is probable that the school year which will start next Monday are which will start next Monday.
